Typhoon Leaves Heavy Damage on Guam Island

GUAM — Rampaging Typhoon Lola winds reported in excess of 100 miles per hour, roared over the island today, leaving a trail of damage estimated in the millions of dollars.

No fatalities were reported but winds lashing over this small island base in the western Pacific demolished hundreds of buildings and cut off power for 10 hours.

Extensive damage was reported at Anderson Air Force Base and at Naval installations at Apra Harbor.

A 10-foot wave battered the island's southern coast, toppling trees and structures, flooding bridges, and rushing two to three feet deep around some houses.

A swept past the island early in the morning its center only 30 miles to the south, headed toward Saipan, a neighboring island in the Marianas group. It was the first typhoon to strike the island this year, although several had passed close by.

President to Pay Visit to Deep South

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower plans to travel into the Deep South today for the first time since he ordered federal troops into Little Rock, Ark.

Accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, he will go to Augusta, Ga., for about five days of golf and work. It will be his 16th to the Augusta National Golf Club since his election in 1952.

This visit provides the first opportunity for a show of any Southern reaction to an Eisenhower visit to Dixie since he ordered troops into Little Rock last Sept. 24 to help enforce a court order for integration of Central High School there.

Presidential aides believe there probably will not be any serious public display of feeling against Eisenhower for use of troops.

They do not rule out the possibility of some outward expression of sentiment, but they said no special precautions had been taken.

At the golf course where the presidential vacation cottage is near the 10th tee, Eisenhower has almost complete seclusion from the public. The course is fenced in and the entrance to the grounds is guarded around the clock by Secret Service agents and Georgia state police.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower celebrated the First Lady's 51st birthday by going to dinner last night at the Alexandria, Va., home of the son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower. Also on hand for the occasion were the four Eisenhower children.

Racing Suit Is Declared Mistrial

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An attorney's $2,500 suit against Eastern Racing Association was declared a mistrial today when a juror failed to appear because of illness.

The case will be re-tried in December.

U.S. District Judge Richard Robinson said that a physician telephone said that juror Andy Allen was too ill to appear.

Marshall N. Carlisle of Little Rock is suing the Boston horse racing corporation for the $12,500 which he said was promised him for legal services.

Carlisle said that he was hired in 1955 during Eastern's unsuccessful attempt to obtain a franchise for horse racing at Hot Springs.

John C. Pappas, head of Eastern Racing, yesterday testified that he had not hired Carlisle and had not authorized a Hot Springs group to do so.

John Lofton of Little Rock, attorney for Eastern Racing, attempted to show that Carlisle was working for a Hot Springs group for some unknown person. Carlisle said the Hot Springs group also was working for Eastern Racing.

Testimony was heard for two days before Allen's illness forced the postponement.

What Kind of Girl Will Claim Presley's Heart

What sort of girl will win the heart of today's idol of millions of young American girls — Elvis Presley? Will she be an actress, a singer, a blonde, brunette or red-head?

Elvis Presley, phenomenon of America's show business world, as he appears with his fiancée, Miss Brenda Hammett, in "Jailhouse Rock," in which he not only sings a flock of new songs but also plays an exciting and unusual dramatic role.

head? Will she be younger than he or older?

An inkling to the answers may be learned from what two of his latest movie leading ladies said of them also his latest off-screen romance.

Jennifer Holden and Anne Nayland both are blondes, oth play romantic roles with Elvis in M-G-M's "Jailhouse Rock," which opens Sunday at the Saenger theater. Miss Holden makes her screen debut as the glamorous movie star who is overwhelmed by the Presley charms in the story. She is a former model from Chicago.

Miss Nayland, a former Miss Texas, recently was signed to a M-G-M contract and plays a flirtatious Southern girl with Elvis. Presley dated her almost exclusively while he was in Hollywood for the film.

"Elvis doesn't hesitate to talk about what he likes and dislikes about girls," Miss Holden begins. "He talks a girl who is fun, who can talk and kid with him and his friends, not just sit quietly in a corner."

"When it comes to marriage, I've heard him say he doesn't have any idea what type of girl he will fall in love with. He says she might be an actress or a singer, a telephone operator or a school girl."

"Incidentally," he told me he hadn't met the girl yet. When he does, the whole world will know about it you can be sure."

Miss Nayland adds to that by saying, "Elvis won't let his career stand in the way of marriage. He knows he has just one life to live and he wants a happy marriage and a family — when he meets the right girl."

He says it might happen suddenly, but with Elvis I don't think so. He aims to be very certain he has the right one when he proposes so I think he'll have to know her for quite a while."

Of one thing Miss Nayland was certain, Elvis will want the girl of his choice with him at all times, wherever his career takes him. "This may make it difficult if he falls in love with a career girl, unless she is willing to give up her career."

"That's interesting. Why not?" "I'm not ready for it yet, I feel," Bennett said. "I have a lot to learn. You might say I'm trying to study television, and there's no better opportunity to do that than appearing in guest spots."

Sunday evening, for example, he will appear on the Ed Sullivan Show. Last Sunday he appeared on the Steve Allen Show. He's been a frequent Como guest and has—and will—appear on many another variety program.

"It may be two or three years before I'm ready for my own show," Bennett said. "I don't want to go on just as a name actor, a network has given me something to do. That just doesn't work out."

Great Lakes Group Talks 4th Seacoast

CHICAGO (UP) — The Great Lakes Commission was expected to discuss the creation of a "fourth seacoast" advisory group in a closed business session today.

The commission was reported ready to act on recommendations made in an open session Tuesday by Harry C. Rockel, commission vice chairman and port director of Milwaukee, Wis.

Rockel said creation of the "fourth seacoast" body to insure competitive freight rates for Great Lakes ports was among the most pressing financial problems of the area.

He called on the commission to take the first step in establishing such a body and said if it did it would render a historic service to the region as a whole.

Reports the commission received indicated the present unfavorable import-export rates in effect at Great Lakes ports may seriously hamper full utilization of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

George H. Weiss, representative of the Great Lakes Overseas Freight Conference, said unless the commission acted to improve the present rate structure, from the shippers standpoint, "you may as well not bother to open the seaway."

CHAPTER XXXV

Dave heard the creak of a wagon on. Knowing Dr. Lockridge was driving along this trail, he drew rein. In that same moment he caught a burst of gunfire. He realized that Bray had worked off the escapement, and now Kains was hitting the nesters with all the firepower of Block S. His thoughts turned backward over the fight at Prole's shack, deciding the attempted ambush at Piny Hollow had brought Bray off the rim. Bray possibly had expected to arrive in time to lead Prole a hand.

The wagon was now creaking into view. He made out Sherry on the front seat holding Melinda the child's head against her lap. The doctor fingered the reins, while behind the rig Lockridge's black plodded along on a lead rope. The doctor drew in his team once he recognized Dave.

Dave asked quietly, "I take it Bray's moving?" "They were workin' down while we were still in the hollow. Could see their wagon canvas in the moonlight. I guess Kains was waiting for them."

Sherry was looking at Dave, nothing the stiff way his left arm hung at his side.

"He shook his head stubbornly. "Not much. Quinn patched me up in Wolf Creek."

"Better let me have a look," Lockridge said.

"Later Doc," He touched the stallion with his spur tips and called back to Sherry: "See you at Doc's office. Wait there for me."

Soon Dave saw the crimson band of firing. He quit saddle and tied the dun to a pine.

Now from the black wall of shadows a form loomed in front of him. He recognized the Imperial beard beneath the man's wide hat.

"McLaws! It's Sharadin."

He heard a quick, indrawn breath of relief. Good thing you yelled. Kains sent me out in case they run this way when he drives over their positions. It's going to be a slaughter."

Dave cast his glance across the flat where ray's men had fortified themselves behind rocks that had fallen off the escarpment. He could see a wagon rolled over onto its side. From behind this he caught methodical firing. Kains was pouring an answering ring of bullets into Bray's men but if he meant to charge against these positions then Block S was going to lose men.

"No, Dave, for that charge." "He'll pay. They're rounding up a hundred head or so. They'll stampede them over Bray, and come behind."

Dave Walker beyond McLaws bending low with the brush. Suddenly McLaws divined his intentions, called hurriedly, "You ain't going out there alone?"

Dave stopped, short, listening now to the far-off tremor of horsemen pounding the trail from Wolf Creek. The sound drew a frown to his face and he wheeled, turning to McLaws.

"That'll be Raoul Quinn," he murmured softly. "Ferris wouldn't bring other men in this. But Quinn has lived on the Montana gold fields and would think along vigilante lines. McLaws, are you with Kains or are you for me?"

The answer came swiftly. "With you, Dave. I guess there ain't no question about it."

"Then get down the trail and see if you can turn those fellows back. I don't want them in this fight. I want to be sure they'll be no more shooting from this quarter."

"Sure, I'll try to keep them out of your hair," McLaws strode off at a brisk walk toward the Wolf Creek trail.

Again Dave moved on, headed for the position Low Bray occupied.

Dave saw the younger ray turn to scan the land behind the Bray position. Dave went flat to the ground waiting until the younger man's gun swung back toward the canyon. He saw that the younger low-haired Bray had been wounded and lay in an awkward position with the wagon bed shielding him from a frontal attack. When he was certain both Brays were concentrated on the canyon he advanced another 3 yards. Here behind a slab of rock he sent his call into the camp.

"Bray, it's Sharadin. I want to come in and talk."

The young Bray turned suddenly with his rifle. Low Bray sat staring moodily at Dave's position. Dave wondered if he had taken a hopeless mission, whether Bray would listen at all to what he had to tell him. Dave said quietly, "I'm coming in peaceably, Bray."

The older man made a vague motion with his hand. Dave rose from behind his shelter and ran half crouched toward the wagon. The younger man lifted his rifle. Low Bray knocked it from his son's hand.

Quickly Dave told them what they faced from the direction of the canyon mouth.

Some of the nesters spat out Raoul Quinn's horses on the trail and realized they were hopelessly out of the canyon. Even Brown told him, "You can't fight your way out, you haven't a chance. On the other hand, if you go on Wolf Creek, even Brown will tell you, 'Back him up on a good gamble'."

merrill. We put up exactly eight birds.

"That's strange," said our guest "there were plenty of birds here yesterday. I wonder where they are?"

"Roosting in the trees," I replied, "where it is dry and comfortable in the morning sun. They won't feed much until the mid-day Solunar Period."

"And there you have it. Dove, like all wildlife, arrange their feeding and resting habits pretty much according to the daily cycle of activity and rest periods. No use knowing these things unless we put them to good use."

So, get the habit — keep track of the daily Solunar Periods. They apply to your shooting every bit as much as they do to your fishing. Believe me, if you watch the Solunar Periods you will find by the end of the year that the practice pays big dividends in sport.

Wet Weather in Most of Nation

By The Associated Press

Wet weather persisted over most of the northern sections of the country today but rains ended temporarily in many areas east of the Mississippi River.

The storm in the Great Lakes region, which lashed Midwest areas yesterday, brought some heavy rainfall and gusty winds in the Northeastern region. Wind gusts of more than 40 m.p.h. were reported near the center of the storm in Lower Michigan.

Earlier winds of 60 m.p.h. whipped the Toledo, Ohio, area. They were clocked at 60 m.p.h. at Akron, Ohio and Lansing and Battle Creek, Mich.

Rain pelted most sections northward into New England during the night and early morning, but diminishing rainfall was indicated during the day.

K. C. Star Told to Sell TV Station

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A consent decree was signed in federal district court today providing that the Kansas City Star divest itself of its radio and television properties and discontinue certain business practices which the government charged were monopolistic.

The decree was an outgrowth of an antitrust suit brought against the Kansas City Star Co., three years ago charging the organization with attempting to monopolize and monopolizing dissemination of news and advertising in the Kansas City area.

The Star and its advertising director, Emil Sees, were convicted of criminal monopoly charges in federal district court in February, 1955, and the supreme court refused to review the case. Today's decree was the culmination of a civil case filed in conjunction with the criminal charges. The civil case was not brought to trial.

Thrill Slaver to Get New Hearing

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Nathan Leopold, the much publicized thrillkiller of the 20s, won a new chance yesterday to bid for early freedom on parole.

The Illinois Pardon and Parole Board in a split decision granted a rehearing on his parole application and set the hearing for an unspecified date next February.

Leopold, now 52, has been in Stateville Prison 33 years for the 1924 slaying of 14-year-old Bobby Frank.

The brutal killing and efforts to extract ransom from the victim's well-to-do Chicago family shocked a nation.

Leopold first sought parole in 1953. Parole was denied and the board rejected two subsequent petitions for a rehearing of the denial.

He filed the current rehearing petition in July after Gov. William G. Stratton denied his plea for executive clemency.

Leopold and Richard Loeb pleaded guilty to the killing in 1924 and were sentenced. Loeb was stabbed to death in a prison fight in 1936.

Dave, "When he insisted she said, 'I'll tell me about how you wanted General Stroughton.'"

He used his bad arm to turn her head, the pain reaching at the way from finger tips to his shoulder. Still he smiled against the misery. He saw the pleasure his smile brought to Sherry.

"Only a Yankee, Sherry. He don't count."

DOROTHY DIX

Wife's Expectations Not Always Fulfilled

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am most puzzled by your recent answer to a young wife whose husband was unfaithful. You said that under the circumstances, a woman is helpless and there is nothing she can do. I do not agree with you.

If a wife makes it clearly understood (in a nice way, of course) that she expects faithfulness from her husband, and that she will not stand for playing around, I believe that fewer men would stray. There will always be men who will take advantage if they feel their wives will let them get away with it.

When a man has an affair, I feel that his wife should take a firm stand with him, explaining that she is living through hell and that she can no longer go on under the existing conditions. Granted she will be taking a slight chance, but if her husband loves her, I am sure he will return with new respect in his eyes — for good!

S. P.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I wish the solution was as simple as this, but I'm afraid it's not. Every wife expects fidelity from her husband, and the violation of her faith is a shock. Of course there are various degrees of extramarital affairs, ranging from a mere flirtation to a violent love affair. Words may cure the former, but if a husband is seriously involved, they'll accomplish nothing. If the wife threatens to leave, she'll be snapped up on the offer. If, however, she rides it out, the marriage can usually be salvaged.

Of course, each case is different, no one rule can be applied to all, but faith that a good marriage can survive a test is the best anchor.

Dear Dorothy Dix: A dear friend of mine is in trouble with her in-laws. They go to her home, do a wash and hang it on the line — on Sunday. They criticize her friends, use her telephone, turn on the TV and completely ignore her. They invite her husband to visit them, but do not include her in the invitation. She's thinking about getting a divorce. What do you think about it?

MAGGIE

Dear Maggie: And what is your dear friend doing while other people take over her home — sitting in the corner doing a martyr act? If she'll put some thought into strengthening her, instead of brooding about divorce (the weak woman's solution), she'll get results. Instead of weeping sympathizing with her, hand out a pep talk that will get action.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Because he was the victim of a broken engagement, the boy I love won't get serious about anyone. He thinks all girls are like his faithless fiancée. How can I convince him he's wrong?

BETTY

Dear Betty: Let him have his broken heart in peace, then after a suitable interval, move in. He will get over the unfortunate love affair; that I assure you.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm not allowed in cars with boys of casual acquaintance. How can I tell a boy he can't drive me home?

KARIN

Dear Karin: The words are simple; my parents won't permit me to drive with boys they don't know. The young men will be disappointed, but this feeling will be overcome by their respect and admiration for cautious parents. Do not let anyone tell you differ; boys do respect girls with strict parents, and these girls rate No. 1 as matrimonial prospects.

Father of Nazi Spy Is Deported

NEW YORK (AP) — Hans Max Haupt, father of an executed Nazi spy, has been deported to his native Germany.

Haupt, 63, who had been serving a life prison sentence for treason left by plane last night for Frankfurt. Should he return to this country, he must go back to jail.

Haupt's son Herbert was one of eight Nazi agents captured during World War II after being landed on the East Coast by a German submarine. The son was executed in 1942.

The father was arrested in Chicago in 1944 and charged with harboring his son. The elder man had spent more than 30 years in the United States. Since his conviction he had been confined in the Danbury, Conn., federal correctional institution.

These reports had it that the party advisers hoped the President would make such a change in the very near future so that Benson's successor could develop a new farm program for presentation to Congress when it convenes early in January.

But similar reports have been circulated in the past only to be quashed by presidential endorsement of Benson and the later farm policies.

UNCERTAINTY

It is not certain what good it does to yawn. It may awaken a person by stretching the muscles and helping the blood to circulate. It may also make a person feel sleepy.

MOTHER AT 14—Married at 13 and a mother at 14, Mrs. Betty McDermott poses with her two-year-old daughter, Killy Leg, in a Wichita, Kan., hospital. Killy's father, 17-year-old Marine PFC William McDermott, who is stationed at Pendleton, Calif., will not get to see his new daughter until Thanksgiving, when he gets his first leave.

TOSS UP—For vacation-bent residents of Kinsley, Kan., it's a toss up as to whether they take a trip to New York to see the sights of Manhattan or go west to look at the Golden Gate. As the sign shows they are halfway between the two cities. The sign, located on U.S. Highway 50, gives tourists an idea of just how big the country is. Steam locomotive in background was a gift to the town from the Santa Fe Railroad.

Hope Star

"WHAT, NO MICKEY MOUSE?"—Children at New York City's Public School 135 are shown getting a science lesson via television. The first-graders said the program transmitted by a local TV station was "almost as good as Mickey Mouse."

WHIRLWIND—Mary Hosford set even blase Hollywood on its ear when she got a starring role from producer C. V. Whitney—in her first professional sally—in "The Missouri Traveler." She then announced she was getting a divorce to marry Whitney and put the topping on the cake by writing "The Mary Hosford Cookbook."

QUIZ WHIZ—Johnny O. Mechura, who's been asking questions since he was one, is now Johnny-on-the-spot when it comes to answering questions. The three-year-old, from Houston, Tex., can spot any U.S. state or foreign country on the map, and give their capital cities. An automobile enthusiast, he can identify 850 models from photographs, and delights in reciting poetry in Czech and Portuguese.

CHEAP AT TWICE THE COST—You can move your home across the Mississippi River for just 60 cents, provided you go by way of the Eads Bridge, and, if it will fit through the toll gate. The Crown Construction Co. of St. Louis found this out when they moved this home to East St. Louis, Ill. Workmen removed part of the eaves of the house and then they were held up by the toll collectors. The collectors checked their books, but couldn't find a specific charge for a house in transit. So they charged them four times the auto cost and sent them on their way.

LIKE FATHER—Another Hollywood father-and-son combination is Robert Mitchum, left, and his son Jim, 16. They'll be seen together in "The Whippoorwill," a movie about moonshiners in the Deep South. Jim's an inch taller than his dad.

LEFT HIS SHOE BEHIND—A shoe, which moments before was being worn by John Alten, driver of this car, came to rest on the accelerator after the car skidded on wet pavement and crashed into a tree near Elyria, Ohio. Alten, 17, suffered lacerations of the chin and eyebrows, and ankle and knee injuries. The car was badly damaged.

MONEY BUSINESS—Seven-year-old Dawn Darnier of Batavia, Ill., gets a big lift when she adds to her savings account at the nearby First National Bank of Geneva. She gets an assist from a hydraulic lift which whisks her 12 inches above the floor to a proper counter height. The lift retracts flush with the floor for adults.

RESOURCEFUL SWABIE—Lt. (jg) Moses T. Sevier seems to be following the old military maxim about living off the land at McMurdo Sound, where he's stationed with "Operation Deepfreeze III." Leaving his gunset hut "hotel," he pauses in front of its fancy plywood front and dips his toothbrush in the snow for a quick brush-off. Spring has come to Antarctica, but we don't really believe it's as warm down there as the shirt-sleeved sailor makes it appear.

GODFATHER PHILIP—Taking on the role of godfather, Prince Philip assists at the christening of the baby daughter of his niece, Princess Christina of Hesse, wife of Prince Andrej of Yugoslavia. The baby, being lifted from the font by Prince Philip, was given the name of Maria. The immersion of the infant was repeated three times in quick succession at St. Sava Serbian Orthodox Church in London. Queen Elizabeth II, wife of Prince Philip, also attended the ceremony.

KNOWS HIS GUN—Pvt. Richard P. Knows, that's his name, not a sentence—proves that, like his father, and grandfather, he deserves that moniker. Richard, now a Marine, hails from the Crow Indian Agency at Hardin, Mont. A veteran hunter, who started with a toy bow and arrow, he's polishing up the gun he'll use on a hunting trip planned for patients at the U.S. Naval Hospital, Oakland, Calif., where he's undergoing treatment.

THANKSGIVING, COLONIAL STYLE—Although Thanksgiving Day is still some time away, staff members of Greenfield Village in Dearborn, Mich., re-enact a pre-Revolutionary holiday dinner in the Secretary House, once the home of a wealthy New Hampshire family. Even in those days it appears that father might have had a little trouble keeping his cuffs out of the gravy at carving time. The staff members are Mrs. Elsie Saffron, Mark J. Rochon and Marilyn Caddy, of Dearborn.

PROPOSED PARLIAMENT—Causing somewhat of a furor is this model of Israel's new "Knesset," or Parliament building, as it would look according to a winning design chosen by state authorities in a contest among the country's leading architects. Designed by Yosef Kiarwein, it vaguely resembles the famous Parthenon of Greece. The choice has aroused protests from private citizens, disappointed competitors and those who do not consider it typically "Israeli." The new Knesset would be erected on the outskirts of Jerusalem.

PAL NIKI—All appeared to be sweetness and light between Nikita Khrushchev and Marshal Georgi Zhukov when this picture was taken in Moscow last June, just after Nik had won a dramatic victory over his foe—with a reportedly big assist from Zhukov. Perhaps now, the Red Army hero wishes Russian scientists had invented a little Wonder Mind-Reading Machine. If he could have probed the thoughts bubbling behind the wily Khrushchev's inscrutable face, he might not have had that big smile on his own.

TROLLEY OF TOMORROW—Offering a striking contrast between past and future, the gleaming silver-colored monorail train in Tokyo sweeps some 30 feet above the ground over the tracks of an old-fashioned streetcar. The two-track "wing train," the first in the Orient, carries 62 passengers in its quarter-mile journey between two 1957 Tokyo's Expo Park.

Bowl Teams Seem Fairly Well Set

By United Press
If long-range odds hold up, New Year's Day will find Ohio State vs. Oregon in the Rose Bowl, Oklahoma vs. Duke in the Orange Bowl, Texas A & M vs. Army or Navy in that Cotton Bowl, and any combination of teams from south of the Mason-Dixon line in the Sugar and Gator Bowls.

Oklahoma, the only team already assured of a bowl trip, steps outside the Big Eight Saturday and is favored by 18 points over Notre Dame in a game to be televised nationally (by NBC). That three-touchdown spread surprised football observers because Oklahoma, despite 47 straight wins, has gone through anxious moments this season. On top of that, it's an open secret that Notre Dame has been pointing all year for the Sooners.

Iowa is a one-point favorite over Ohio State, Oregon seven over Southern Cal, Duke seven over Clemson, Texas A&M seven over Rice and Tennessee seven over Mississippi.

While the Ohio State-Iowa battle will crown the Big Ten champion, Iowa is barred from the Rose Bowl because it made the trip last New Year's Day. That means Ohio State can make the run for the roses with a victory over Iowa or Michigan, its opponent next week. Similarly, Oregon needs only one victory in its remaining games with Southern Cal or Oregon State for its first Rose Bowl appearance since 1920.

Duke needs only a win over Clemson, or next Saturday's foe, North Carolina.

Texas A & M, rated No. 1 by the United Press Board of Coaches can sew up the host role in the Cotton Bowl by beating Rice. The Cotton Bowl Committee is believed to be leaning toward the winner of the Nov. 30 Army-Navy classic for the visiting team.

If the service academies mix a Cotton Bowl appearance, the Tennessee - Mississippi game probably will produce one team for the Cotton Bowl and one for the Sugar.

The Gator Bowl announced during the week that it is eyeing nine teams — Texas A & M, Texas Christian, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Vanderbilt, and Miami of Florida.

Miami is a seven-point choice over Maryland in the only major game Friday night.

Auburn and North Carolina State normally considered among bowl candidates, must stay home.

Next Week Is a Big One in Television

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (UP) — One of the big weeks of the current television season begins tomorrow. Here, according to your tastes, are some of the things worth viewing over the weekend.

There's excitement for sports fans on Saturday afternoon. In football, Notre Dame clashes with Oklahoma on NBC-TV. Ice hockey is visible on CBS-TV when the Detroit Red Wings meet the Chicago Black Hawks.

The first of three special musical reviews to originate in Las Vegas comes on NBC-TV Saturday evening with Ann Southern as hostess. Guests will include Jayne Mansfield, Sammy Davis Jr., Tony Randall and Vic Damone.

On Sunday you really need two TV sets and two pairs of eyes. Omnibus will devote its full 90 minutes to "American Trial by Jury." Boston Atty. Joseph W. Welch will serve as narrator of a true murder trial drama starring Chester Morris and Phil Collins.

Before Omnibus has run its full course, The Seven Lively Arts comes on CBS-TV with a study of mass evangelism in 20th century America. Among other features there will be filmed spots of Billy Sunday, Aimee Semple McPherson, Oral Roberts, Billy Graham.

And before The Seven Lively Arts has run its full course Hall of Fame comes on NBC-TV with a 90-minute dramatization of "On Borrowed Time," starring Ed Wynn and Claude Rains. This is a moving drama about an elderly man who chases death, in the person of a mysterious Mr. Brink, up a tree.

One of the most expensive and potentially most interesting programs of the season comes on NBC-TV Sunday evening in the two-hour General Motors 50th Anniversary Show. Around the theme of the pursuit of happiness are combined drama, music, comedy and dance. Among the galaxy of stars are Kirk Douglas, Ernest Borgnine, June Allyson, Pat Boone, Helen Hayes, Dinah Shore — and just about everybody can name.

Mayor Succumbs at Bald Knob

BALD KNOB (UP) — Mayor James Hugh Miller, 64, died at his home here last night. He is survived by his wife, a son, a daughter and five grandchildren. Funeral arrangements will be announced.

4th of Nation Has Been Hit by Cold, Flu

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
CLEVELAND — At least one fourth of the nation's people have had to spend a day or more in bed since midsummer because of severe colds, sore throat, Asian flu or similar upper respiratory illness, a report by a U.S. Public Health Service official showed today. There were 38 million so affected from mid-July to October.

Dr. William Stewart, assistant to the surgeon general of USPHS summarized the latest available data on the Asian flu situation before the 85th annual meeting of the American Public Health Assn. As to Asian flu alone, he said: "The anticipated epidemics are now occurring in various parts of the country, particularly in the middle Atlantic and east north-central states."

"Slight to moderate increases in mortality (that is, above normal seasonal rates) chiefly among older persons, have occurred in several places where epidemics are in progress."

He said that "future spread of the epidemic can be anticipated in essentially all parts of the country not now affected," and added:

"A high national incidence can be expected to continue for a period of six to eight weeks. The Public Health Service urges that vaccination against influenza be promoted vigorously."

Stewart said some idea of the prevalence of Asian flu could be derived from reports obtained in connection with the national health survey, in which the Bureau of the Census interviewed a representative national sample of households for the Public Health Service.

The resulting estimates indicate, he said, that during the period from July 15 to October 5 there were an estimated 38 million people with acute respiratory diseases severe enough to cause them to go to bed.

Stewart said that during the week ended October 12, an estimated 8.5 million persons throughout the country had colds, sore throats, influenza or similar disease severe enough to put them to bed. The average number of persons in each household was 3.1.

Being back in the scenes of his boyhood prompted some nostalgia on his part. He talked about his early days around 79th Street and the East Side.

"Sure, the kids were tough in those days," he said. "They used blackjacks and knives then too. But there didn't seem to be the organization that there is today. We traveled in gangs, but every guy was fundamentally a free lancer."

"Today, the kid gangs seem to have taken a note from the mobs in organizing and demanding protection money, that sort of thing. It's vicious."

After 25 years of living in California and New England, he has no yen to return to his native city.

"If you had to live in a city, this would be the place to do it," he observed. "There you get the best theater, the best museums, the best schools. But thank heaven I don't have to live in the city."
